DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 2-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Edamura (US 4,972,060).

Edamura et al anticipates the structure claimed including a plurality of display portions (12, 14, 15) for displaying cooking information and operating mode information, a plurality of control switches (11, 13) for starting cooking timers for each cooking menu displayed on the display portions, the means (13) for switching and selecting a plurality of cooking information and operating modes which includes the operating names and the state of the operating utensil.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 8/4/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that Edamura does not show use the same switches and same display portions to select and display the cooking menu and operating modes. However, it is noted that to the applicant that the claims recites a plurality of display portions and switches but no particular display portions and switches are the same. When there is a plurality of display portions and switches, any of the display portions and switches can be used to meet the scope of the claims. Thus the applicant's argument is not deemed persuasive.
